THE SITUATION IN BELFAST

The Dreadful Riots of the Past Few Days Drawing to An End.

FRENZIED WORK OF THE MOBS.

Religious Differences Responsible For the Bloodshed-Statements of the Situation From Both Catholic and Orange Standpoints.

The Belfast Situation.

BELFAST, August 10-| New York Herald Cable-Special to the BEE, |-The city has been remarkably quiet to-day, and many people express hopes that the riots are finally over. A full list of casualties up to 8 p. m. includes only a lamplighter's throat cut by catholics in the small hours of last night, the stoning of some catholic mill girls on their way to work by a party of protestant women, two catholics severely wounded by gun shots from a house while on their way to the burial of a body shot a few days ago, and an attack on protestant laborers by catholics, using stones instead of pistols fortunately. A QUIET PROCESSION.

The procession of orange workmen coming home from the dock yards passed through the catholic districts this evening without rioting, so that the surgeons were spared the work usually made necessary by the broken bottles and jagged iron bolts commonly used for weapons on such occasions. In order to prevent the "Island boys" from rioting the troops lined both sides of the street through the catholic quarters, each cross-street being closed by a cordon of police mounted, with a second cordon half a block up. Strong bodies of cavalry preceded and followed the returning workmen, who passed waving their hats, cheering and yelling. Of course

ALL BUSINESS IS STOPPED in these streets. For an hour or more the Catholics sullenly watched the procession pass. Both sides were anxious for a fight, and were only restrained by the overwhelming force of troops and police.

CATHOLICS PROTEST. At a meeting of catholics held to-day a protest was made against the unfairness of the protestant magistrates. A petition was drawn up for their removal. Mr. Biggar and several other members of parliament were present. It was alteged by several priests that the catholics caught in the mobs were imprisoned for six months, while the protestants were let off with a ten shillings tine by the protestant justices. Father Green stated that every evening the orangemen used as weapons iron bolts taken from the yard of the mayor of Belfast who had previously never allowed such valuable iron to be taken away from his vard

VIEWING THE BATTLE GROUND. I rode to-day over Sunday's battle ground where early on Sunday the protestants and catholics spent four hours in firing at each other from behind trees, stone walls, etc. The details already given of this fight are probably unauthentic, but several catholics confess that twenty-seven dead catholics were carried off the field. Catholic priests tell me the floor of houses, as was done in the riots of 1864. The spirit of the people is shown the case of a man killed firing from a window. He fell back in his wife's arms, and said, "Don't let the orange devils know they have killed me." In front of many houses I notice the cobble stones have been loosened ready for use in case of emergency. When the emergency comes the children act as powder monkeys. They keep the cobble magazine full.

THE PRIEST AND CLERGY. One or the peculiar teatures of the recent riots has been the leading part taken by the protestant clergy and the catholic priests. If anything were lacking to show that religious differences are responsible for the riots, the advice given to the rioters by their pastors completes the chain of evidence. Of course, both the priests and protestant clergy have advised against acviolence, but nevertheless they have exhorted their congregations never to give up rioting. The Rev. Dr. Kane, of Christ church, being the principal protestant leader, has gone so far as to tell the mayor and magistrates that the police must be disarmed at once and removed from the orange quarters, else 2,000,000 armed orangemen would take the ritles and revolvers from the police, peaceably if possible, forelbly if necessary. As an answer to Dr. Kane the mayor ordered all the police from the Orange quarter, with the result so far of an entire cessation of hostilities in that part of Belfast.

A PROTESTANT MINISTER TALKS. I saw Dr. Kane this morning. He said: "The riot was caused by the exasperation of the catholics at the defeat of home rule. This exasperation against the orangemen has extended to the police, who are largely catholies. The result is that the catholic mobs who invaded the protestant quarwere protected by the police, then fired on the orangemen, who were merely protecting their homes. They have a responsible lawyer who is willing to swear he saw the police open their ranks to allow the catholic mob to pass through to attack the orangemen. When this mob was repulsed the police again opened their ranks and allowed the catholics to pass through uninjured, but they fired buckshot at the protestants, who, of course, were greatly enraged at such scandalous treatment by the police.

ULSTER AN ORANGE STRONGHOLD. This is but a sample of the whole. If Glad stone's separation bill had not been brought in we should now be as peaceful as we have been for the last twenty-five years. If the rule bill had all Ulster would be now passed engaged in a desperate civil war. The orangemen have shown in these riots such desperate courage that we don't fear the result of such a war if the necessity arises for it. I have told the magistrates it is possible for them to exterminate the orange population of Ulster but it is not possible to subdue it. I know that about twenty protestents have been killed in these riots and many more catholics have been killed. There are about one hundred and ninety thousand protestants to fifty thousand catholics in

THE CATHOLIC SIDE. Father Green, a prominent catholic priest, who has worked for twenty years in Belfast, said: "The real rioting began when the protestant bands paraded the city on the day of Dr. Hannah's Presbyterian picnic, playing 'Kick the Pope,' 'Boyne Water,' etc. The catholic bands are not allowed to parade the city at all. The rioting was continued by aggressions on the part of the protestants. Look, for instance, at the daily parade of orangemen coming home from the mayor's works. They march in compact body through the catholic quarter, cheering, howling and cursing at the catholies. All of them are armed with lumps of iron taken by someone's permission from our protestant mayor's works."

A FIGHTING MINORITY. "We are in the minority, but we are a fighting minority. Of course, the priests cannot always control the people under such provocation. The fact is, the catholic minority knows that when the police are withdrawn they can always whip the protestant | Diplomacy Reaches the End of the Rope In majority. This rioting will go on as long as the protestant magistrates interfere unjustly against the catholics. It someone would hang all the borough magistrates the rioting would stop to-morrow. Then the police would fire volleys, as you Americans did at Chicago, instead of only irritating the mob with useless single shots. I think that a few volleys of buckshot fired into every mob which gathers, whether protestant or catholic, would quickly settle the rioting.

PRIESTS AS PEACEMARERS. "The difference in religion is of course at the bottom of all this trouble. I greatly fear the necessary firmness will not be shown toward the mob, in which case the rioting is likely to continue Indefinitely with increasing violence." It must be said for the priests that in spite of their enurch-militant apparently do the utmost in their power to prevent and stop the riots. The catholic quarter of Belfast is now divided into districts with a priest in charge of each. The priests never leave the streets until three or four o'clock in the morning. They expose themselves recklessly when the firing is going on in their attempt to drive back the eatholies from the disorderly districts. A MAGISTRATE'S OPINION.

Mr. Johnston, the magistrate, said the se vere rioting was due largely to the action of the residents and paid magistrates who called the catholic police to Bel-fast without consulting the mayor This and the local magistrates. created jealousy among the "locals," who first refused to co-operate with the resident magistrates when the rioting began. The police certainly showed great lack of judgmen in aring on the mob, when they should simply have made arrests. The instructions now are to arrest more and shoot less.

NOT OVER YET. Reed, the inspector general of the Irish constabulary, expressed great doubt whether the rioting is over. "The police have been greatly but unjustly blamed. Personally I have investigated the complaints of drunkenness and careless shooting. I have found the men always sober. They were forced to shoot in order to save their own lives. So many women and children have been killed because they insist in taking part with the mobs. I risked my life several times during the firing in my attempts to draw the women from the streets. I always failed and was only cursed for my trouble. I am very willing to disarm the police, but it is not possible to do so."

TROOPS GUARDING THE STREETS. Protestant Belfast now has patrol troops at nearly every corner. The disturbed districts of eatholic Belfast are equally well guarded by the police. It is certain the police mean soon to attempt to resume duty in orange quarters, and a struggle is then expected, probabably a bloody one.

The mayor informs me he will not sanction the proclamation of martial law except as a last extremity, as this would practically forbid all traffic after dark-a thing impossible in a city so large as Belfast.

A PEACEFUL NIGHT.
BELFAST August 11, 1 a. m.—I have just driven through all the disturbed parts of the ity and four patrols of troops and police nearly every corner in parties of six to a dozen. This great show of force has prevented all rioting except a little wild shooting in which one or two persons were wounded. The outlook is peaceful and encouraging, although it is hard to tell what may happen when the exhausted police are withdrawn.

Work of the Mob. BELFAST, August 10.-Five thousand troops and 2,500 constables occupy the disturbed districts. The presence of the police tends to increase instead of suppress the disorders. The protestants declare that the catholics were the aggressors by wrecking protestant houses, while the catholics are equally certain that the protestants were the aggressors. Of one thing there is no doubtnever did two mobs of different religions display a more bloodthirsty desire to kill or main each other. During the fighting on Sunday and Monday, whenever the powder ran short, virages on both sides, with flat irons and other implements, ground the large grains of blasting powder into a size suitable for small arms, while boys of tender age melted lead into bullets and slugs. While the rioters were firing the youths and women stood behind them busily loading spare guns in order to prevent a waste of time. lade iasted until 9 o'clock vesterday morning lade lasted until 9 o'clock yesterday morning when the ammunition gave out and a tacit truce ensued, both sides removing dead and wounded to their homes. Both sides are doing their utmost to hide their losses. Friends and neighbors of the killed and wounded all regard the police as foes. Their presence is a terror to the repulsed, and excludes the idea of wantonness. This is now the great supreme difficulty.

London, Aug. 10.--At noon a report was received here that a desperate riot took place this morning in Springfield. A later dispatch from Belfast says only a few persons were wounded in the riot in Sprinfield this morning. Temporary quiet has been restored at Belfast. The persons wounded in the riots are making fair pro-

At about 5 o'clock this afternoon two men were shot by disorderly persons in different parts of the city. Special constables are being enrolled. The military are taking the place of police. A fund has been opened for the relief of the families of the killed.

The First Law of Nature. LONDON, August 10.-T. D. Sullivan, member of parliament for Dublin, at a meeting of the national league held here to-day made a speech in which he maintained that until the tenants in Ireland had sufficient food and clothing for themselves and their families, their landlerds could have no just claim to rent. the Cutting Case. RUMOR RIFE AT WASHINGTON.

Munitions of War Shipped to the Gulf From New York-Texas Frantic For the Fray-Official Opinions in the Matter. The War Department Moving. WASHINGTON, August 10 .- [Special Telegram to the Beg.)-In spite of the denials and evasions of the war department, officers of the army assert positively to-night that the various bureaus of the department have been ordered to put their affairs on a war footing and to be in readiness to respond should it be ound necessary to make a demonstration towards Mexico. None of the army officers stationed here think that any serious results will follow the Mexican incident, but belief is very general administration is preparing to take the necessary steps to convince Mexico that the United States is ready to enforce shall be deemed to have arisen. It is the prevalent opinion here that if the state department really intends to enforce the demands for the release of Cutting, it will be quite sufficient to send two or three thousand troops to the beauty was a time manufactory.

troops to the border and two or three men-of-war to the Gulf. Mexico is not anxious for war, and it is thought that Cutting will be released within a week if hostile demonstrations are made. Fight Or Back Down. WASHINGTON, August 10 .- [Special Tele gram to the Bee.]-A rumor was current here last night to the effect that troops and war vessels are being massed on the Mexican border. Officials of the war and navy department were seen by your correspondent this morning and asked the truth of the rumor. They all denied that anything in the nature of hostile demonstrations have yet been contemplated, but decline to divulge the nature of the sealed orders of the Galena, which put to sea last week, destination unknown. An old diplomatic officer of the government said to-day: "We have really come to the end of our rope in the Cutting case. The secretary of state has demanded his release and the Mexican gov ernment has practically told us to go to the devil. It is my firm opinion that Cutting will be hanged or shot before he will be released. They will, of course, say that he tried to escape. I know the Mexican character and I teel certain that some excuse for ridding the country of him will be found."

"Which will be done next?"

"What will be done next?"
"I do not see that anything can be done by this government until congress meets again. The president is absolutely powerless. The secretary of state has demanded the release of Cutting. The Mexican government has declined to comply with the demand. The constitution provides that only congress shall declare war and while it is within the province of the president to mass troops and war ince of the president to mass troops and war vessels in the neighborhood of Mexico, he cannot make any further hostile demonstra-tions and the Mexicans know it as well as we do. Unless some action is taken towards enforcing the demand for Cutting's release, he will in all probability remain in prison, unless he is hanged in the meantime."

Still More Rumors. WASHINGTON, August 10 .- [Special Telegram to the BEE. I-There are some rumors about town of impending naval and military movements against Mexico, but they cannot as yet be construed into anything definite of startling. They may be, perhaps, indicative of a determination on the part of the government to be forehanded and prepared for an emergency. The Galena was ordered sto the Gulf last week, and this action certainly does give rise to much comment in army, navy and political circles, it being considered an extraordinary proceeding in time of peace. The Vandalia and Juniata were ordered to Valparaiso last Friday, and it is whispered by knowing ones that it would not be surprising if these ships, when they stop at Key West for supplies, should be intercepted there by dispatches directing their course to the As to our other available naval mate Guif. As to our other available naval mate-rial, there are three or four ships at Portland that might be ordered off in a similar way, but it is not learned that they have been as yet. As for troops, there are now between four and five thousand soldiers in the southwestern territories which could be easily marched to the Mexican frontier. But if any such movement were contemplated it would probably be directed by sealed orders unless the purpose of the government were to over-awe and frighten Mexico. But no public or-ders have been issued, and if there are any sealed orders en route the war department would of course keep them secret.

Shipping War Material. NEW YORK, August 10 .- | Special to the BEE. |-There was activity at the army ports at and near New York yesterday and communication with Washington was continu ous. At Fort Hamilton the munitions of war were invoiced and inspected, and it was determined just how much could be depended upon from that quarter upon a sudden call Fort Wadsworth, Halletts Point and David Island had already reported. At pier 20 East river, ten gun carriages for field batter ies were delivered to the Mallony Steamship company for immediate shipment to San Antoino, Texas, via Galveston. They will be carried by the Rio Grande, which will sail to morrow, Colonel Hodges, of the quastermaster department, who shipped them, said that the shipment was made in the ordinary course of business and not on special order at all. It is said that more carriages and some cannon will be put aboard to-day and that arms are being shipped from Washington and Rock Island, and also from Waterviiet arsenal. The United States ships Juniata and Van-The United States ships Juniata and Vandalia left the Brooklyn navy yard early last week under orders, it was said, for the Pacific. At Eelis Island they received their supplies of ammunition and they have remained there ever since. The Essex left the navy yard at 6 o'clock yesterday morning, joined them and got her powder. The Brooklyn also is expected to take her departure to-day or to-morrow. At the navy yard it was said that the Essex was to join the Chinese squadron if she was not needed nearer home. nearer home

Texas Aching to Fight. NEW YORK, August 10 .- [Special Telegram to the BEE.]-A Dallas special says: Everybody is complimenting Secretary Bayard, and a war spirit predominates. The people see a ray of hope now that Mexican out-rages and Mexican insults will be redressed. All the newspapers compliment the secretary of state, and the street talk is all for Bayard and war. Young men particularly are anxious to have a brush with Mexico, either under federal authority or by Governor Ireland's permission. Many prominent Texans are returning from Washington, and they have done much to allay the ill-feeling that that obtained against the Washington authorities. They all report that the government means business, is moving prudently and without unseemly haste, but that everything will be right in the end.

Congressman Mills reached home last night from Washington. He said: "I believe there will be war unless Diaz pardons Cutting, which will smooth things over some, but that the national government will then insist that an indemnity be paid."

Senator Cook went to see Bayard before he ieft Washington, and the secretary told him if there was any backdown Mexico must do it. anxious to have a brush with Mexico, either

Congressman Mills says he looks for the reconvening of congress in thirty days unless

Cutting is released. "You may say," says he, "that the policy of this administration is to protect the humblest citizen, who ever he may be, and President Cleveland and Mr. Bayard will never receive one lota from their position." Mr. Milk says in case of hostilities he would advise the El Paso people to leave the city and go into the interior. He also says Cleveland could concentrate troops at El Paso before congress meets if necessary,

Hoping for Peace. WASHINGTON, Argust 10.-It is stated at the war and navy lepartments to-day that while the fighting branches of the government are in their customary condition of readiness for action, offensive or defensive, the present difficulties with Mexico are as yet the exclusive convern of the diplomatic branch and no movement of troops or vessels have yet been ordered with a view to possible warfare. At the state department it is said that there is nothing now which it would be be proper to make public at present, but that there is still no reason to doubt that an amic, able adjustment of the Cutting affair. It is profficially learned that the correspondence now in progress is expected to bring about definite results of some kind within a few days, and that the direct objects sought to be uplished by this government are the release of Cutting.

News From the Border. El Paso, Tex., August 10,-Everything is very quiet to-day and what little excitement prevails does not come to the surface. The mmediate cause for this tranquil state of affairs is an exchange of views had last evening between the municipal authorities of E1 Paso del Norte and this place. Both sides Paso del Norte and this place. Both sides have additional police officers on duty, and any rash act will be promptly suppressed. Cutting is still in jall, and the time for starting for Chihuahua has not been made known. The absence of any Washington news this morning relative to the international complications causes a dread anxiety among many.

August 10 .- It is reorted from Green Eay that the village of Big Suamico is so beset by fire that the people have sent a request for a steamer to take them to Green Bay. A Youthful Horse Thief. DES MONNES, Ia., August 10 .- [Special Telegram to the BEE.]-This morning an unknown boy presented bimself at Turner & Allison's stables and asked for the proprietor. He had in his possession a valuable horse, which he said had been given him by his uncle. He offered the animal for sale at a figure so far below its real value that Mr. Turner's suspicions were aroused, the horse being worth $1,500. Accordingly he held the boy in conversation and sent for the police. Officer Lewis changed his clothes and appeared on the scene as a buyer. Mr. Montgomery, having previously valued the horse at $500, offered the lad $150 if he would guarantee that everything would be all right. agreed and Officer Lewis suggested that they go to his office and make out a bill of sale. The lad did not suspect the manner in which he was being entrapped until he entered the door leading to police headquarters. There he broke down and in his terror he fell over a chair. Harvest Returns. WASHINGTON, August 10. - The spring wheat returns of the department of agriculture for August 1st., show an improvement in condition in Iowa, a small decline in Wis consin and Nebraska, and a heavy reduction in Dakota. The causes of deterioration are drought and chinch bug. The heat has been excessive in many districts, that have produced fair yield not withstanding. Harvest is two weeks earlier than usual and the quality is unusually good except in sections where heavy loss from blight occurred. The general average of the condition is from 82 to 80. At the time of the reduced last year the average was 86. Part of loss last season occurred after August 1. At present the harvest is nearly over. With improving meteorological condition the final estimate cannot be much further reduced. The present average is 97 for lowa, instead of 90 last month. No less than twenty-five countles, each producing from two hundred thousand to a million bushels, re-port the condition at 100 or over. In Minnesota there is an increase from 78 to 80. The rejuction in Wisconsin is from 75 to 79

Winter wheat previously harvested is not reported this month. There has been a heavy decline in the condition of corn since the 1st of July. The average, which was July. then 95 is reduced to St.
The highest decline is in Wisconsin, Illinois, and the states west of the Mississippi river. In the eastern division of the middle states the condition is well mainmiddle states the condition is well main-tained. It indicates a crop not much exceed-ing twenty-two bushels per acre, though fuure conditions may increase or decrease the dtimate yield.

THE EVIDENCE COMPLETED.

The Defense Finish Taking Testimony In the Trial of the Anarchists.

THE GREAT CASE NEAR ITS END.

The Address By Counsel to Be Probably Concluded Friday, and Possibly a Verdict Reached By

Saturday Morning.

The Anarchists' Trial. CHICAGO, August 10.-In the anarchists' trial this morning the defense called W. A. S. Graham, a reporter for The Times. Witness interview Gilmer near the office of the chief of police in the city hal! May 5. Graham further testified that Gilmer told him that the man who threw the bomb also lit the fuse also that the man's back was turned toward him, but he thought he wore whiskers and that he was a man of medium height. Gilmer also stated the man wore a slouch hat. On cross examination Graham said that Glimer said that the man who threw the bomp stood in Crane's alley at 10:55 p. m. Capt. Black announced that the detense had concluded. Judge Chester C. Cole, for eleven years a member of the supreme bench of lowa, testified he had known Gilmer personally for a long number of years and his reputation was good. He said Gilmer had been at his house a number of times. The cross-examination only tended to confirm the statement that Gilmer had borne a good regulation.

a number of times. The cross-examination only tended to confirm the statement that Glimer had borne a good reputation. Edward R. Mason, clerk of the United States district court of Des Moines, Ia., said Glimer had always borne a good reputation. Extended always borne a good reputation. Extended always borne a good reputation. Extended that the reputation of Gliffer for truth and reacity was good. The court then adjourned till 2 p. m.

At four o'clock this afternoon the state closed its case. The defense had nothing to offer in rebuttal and the court adjourned until to-morrow morning to allow counsel time to arrange the course of their speeches.

The testimony this afternoon was devoted wholly to two subjects—evidence in rebuttal to prove the good character of Glimer, an important witness for the state, and that of ten or twelve police officers, who were present at the riot, who swore they had neither revolvers nor clubs in their hands before the bomb exploded, and saw none in the hands of the other officers. Among the witnesses who testified to the good character of Glimer were six or seven residents of Des Moines, Ia., among them being ex-Governor Samuel Merrill and ex-City Marshai George Christ. It is expected the arguments of both sides together with the judge's charge to the jury will occupy nearly, if not quite, three days and that the jury will retire Friday night and possibly return their verdict Saturday morning.

A Feud Compromised.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., August 10.-There is a strong probability that the famous Rowan county troubles are at an end. For years the feud has given Kentucky a bad name throughout the country, and the prospect of a settlement will be hailed with satisfaction throughout the commonwealth. Craig Tolliver and Cook Humphrey, leaders of the rival factions, have agreed-so it is understoodto leave Rowan county forever. Papers to that effect have already been signed. The prosecution has consented to compromise by dismissing the cases against Tolliver and Humbprey in such event.

A conviction of the parties would be hard to secure on account of the difficulty of procuring witnesses, etc., so that this com-promise is deemed the best plan to secure peace for a distracted portion of the state. Cook Humphrey is preparing to leave to-night for Texas, where he will go into the cattle business. Craig Tolliver will locate either in Kansas or Missouri, and will leave of the future home at once, This happy solution of the difficulty is due to State's Attorney Caruth, of this district, who was appointed by Governor Knott to conduct the prosecution against the outlaw chieftains. State troops have been stationed at Morehead, the county seat of Rowan, for some time, and the case has cost the commonwealth great deal of money.
